1st Arizona Retreat & Workshop A Success!

November 2007, Transformations e-newsletter

Volume #1

Through Eagles Eyes, Inc., featuring Diane Winn and Tom Searcy, Professional Coaches, have just returned from their first executive/professional retreat at Hannagan Meadow Lodge in the mountains of Eastern Arizona.

Titled "Unleash Your Creative Potential", participants experienced three days of interactive creative exercises. Designed to facilitate a keen understanding of personal strengths, a greater awareness of personal motivating drives and attitudes, and allow participants to experience a leap in accessing greater inner potential, the workshop surpassed all expectations. Those who chose to follow the retreat with individual coaching sessions are experiencing great success in implementing change in their work, in their lives and in their creativity!

Unleash Your Creative Potential is designed for business executives and small business owners. As business leaders attune to their own inner compass, and better define their guiding values and vision, clients, employees and shareholders reap the benefits of greater success due to harmony in the workplace, higher quality products and increased customer satisfaction and loyalty. People tell other people about the businesses they enjoy working with. This program promotes higher levels of communication and accountability on all fronts. Also interesting to note, the program appealed to those participants simply looking to step more fully into their own success, satisfaction and personal balance.

Each participant was treated to a personalized Mind-body protocol designed to help them more easily realize the experiential shift they were seeking. (We will speak more about this in future editions of Transformations e-newsletter.)

Hannagan Meadow Lodge has a great Western History. Fourteen miles due west of the Lodge, over the nearest mountain peak, is the famous Fort Apache. John Wayne regularly played poker in the Lodge dining room by the fire. As one program participant claimed, "This is a one-of-a-kind place for a one-of-a-kind program."

Designing programs to potential, Through workshops at the local,
